

Romantic Calendars

Contributed by Administrator
Monday, 11 June 2007

Sometimes around February, all the calendars that haven't been sold are put on clearance. Many of the calendars like my favorite, The Far Side have many more uses than for counting down the days.

Several times I have bought calendars on clearance to add to my "romantic arsenal" (see What Weapons are You Hiding?) for future use. Many have funny comics or interesting quotes that make wonderful filler material for all the notes and cards I continually send to my wife.

365-Day calendars can be cut up and made into a collage or giant card. Some people use them to create a scrapbook to reflect on the past year. Imagine if you had one of those calendars and wrote down one thing you and your love did on each day and gave it to them for a Christmas or New Year's present at the end of the year.

If you have access to a computer scanner or fax, you might be able to write a personal note on each day and send it to your love at work for a good morning greeting.

The larger, more colorful calendars make great wrapping paper or can be used to decorate hand-made gifts like hat boxes and even "romantic arsenal" boxes.