

Tropical Love

Contributed by Administrator
Monday, 11 June 2007

Ah! A tropical Rain Forest! With its beautiful flowers, singing birds and splashing waterfall you have an instant romantic adventure. No, I'm not about to tell you about a recent trip to some exotic country. Here is how you can have a enchanting rain forest in your own home.

It's so simple I am amazed I didn't think of it earlier. Fill your bathroom with as many plants as you can (no cactus, please). Bring in your music box and play your tape or CD of bird songs or tropical music (even Caribbean music would create the right atmosphere). With some duct tape and a dustpan you can easily transform your showerhead into a waterfall (scrub the dustpan first).

If you want to go all out, replace your regular light bulbs with colored ones – blue and green would be a good choice to set the mood. Bring in some candles with scents such as coconut, pineapple and mango.

Now the next time your loved one needs a getaway but you don't have the time or the money, take their stress away with a tropical waterfall. It's a lot more creative than your average bubble bath with candles around the tub. Not only will your spouse thank you but your plants will enjoy the treatment as well.