

Tiny Christmass Tree

Contributed by Administrator
Monday, 09 August 2004
Last Updated Wednesday, 06 June 2007

So much thought is put into what gift goes under the Christmas tree for your love. Have you ever thought about giving your present on the tree? First, you have to have the right tree. A miniature potted Christmas tree makes a perfect gift for the boyfriend or girlfriend who doesn't have the time, money or desire to drag a full size tree into their home. For those who already have their "daddy" tree, this "baby" tree is a perfect companion – perhaps even to brighten up a different room of the house or to bring cheer to their office.

Now here is where you can get ultra creative. Sure, you can decorate the tiny tree just like you would do a big one, but you would be missing a grand opportunity.

Consider these clever ways of trimming the midget tree:

- For the pet lover: Decorate with doggy bones, squeaky toys, pet collars and a leash as a garland.
- For the tool guy: Hang nuts and bolts, small tools like screwdrivers and pliers, and for a garland use a tape measure or a chain.
- For the jewelry woman: Adorn the tree with earring, bracelets and other accessories, and a gold chain or long scarf for the garland.
- For the person with a sweet tooth: Tie all sorts of candies all over the tree and use strings of licorice for the garland.